8 - DECLARATIONS

The amendments to the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975 (2013 and 2020) provides that when applying for certain jobs and activities, certain convictions and cautions are considered 'protected'. This means that they do not need to be disclosed to employers, and if they are disclosed, employers cannot take them into account. Having a criminal record will not necessarily prevent you from taking up appointment; this will depend on the nature of the offence(s) and their relevance to the post you are applying for. However, should you not declare any of the above and this is subsequently revealed, e.g. through the DBS check, then this may place your appointment in jeopardy.

For more guidance, please visit: www.gov.uk or www.hub.unlock.org.uk

Do you have any convictions or cautions that would not currently be filtered by the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS)? Yes No

You do not need to disclose reprimands, final warnings or youth cautions or anything that would be filtered by the DBS.

Do you have any record of disciplinaries in your current or previous positions, or have you had any allegations made against you? Yes No

It is a criminal offence for barred individuals to seek, or to undertake, work with children.

If you have answered 'YES' to the above and are called to interview, the employer will require you to provide further details at the interview stage. This will be managed in confidence directly by the employer.

I declare that the information I have given on this form is correct. I understand that providing false or misleading information is an offence which could result in my application being rejected, or, in the event of employment being obtained, may result in disciplinary action being taken, up to and including summary dismissal. It could also result in legal action. I understand that my application form will be retained on file and give my consent for the personal data supplied to be used for the purposes of recruitment and selection.
